REDEFINING MOVIE MAGIC

Home theatres have become a necessary part of every common living area. With the right devices, watching TV at home can give a commercial theatre like experience

The Nexus 21 TV lift has features like a manual swivel option at any position, safety collision software and non-exposed belts.

The TV lift offers enhanced safety and easy integration with third party AV systems.

One cannot ignore the advent and influence of media visible in the various devices in a home. From a simple TV area to dedicated rooms, the complete experience is conducive to all budgets and home sizes. The TV viewing experience has changed and it isn't even all about the TV or what you are watching anymore!

The living room is the heart of media consumption. This is the place which collects the majority of equipments and appliances. A home theatre coupled with the right sound devices can occupy a section of the room, making it defunct for other uses.

To prevent this, placing appliances on the walls, near the cabinets, help space out and clear the room from unnecessary clutter. Placing the DVD, speakers and other gadgets connected to the TV in a low shelving system below it or on the floor can make it more susceptible to damage. The devices can also be kept together in a single unit; however this styling apparatus is passé.

OVER-SIZED RECLINER CHAIRS

Over-sized recliner chairs for home theatre spaces are trending. While watching a movie at home always calls for
